I'm getting tired of hearing about how we won't have any police or fire protection if the Jarvis Gann (initiative) is passed. I don't know, who these people think they're fooling. On the "60 Minutes" TV show Sunday night they showed San Jose politicians making those same statements and yet they say it will cut the budget 20 percent. Don't tell me they can't make a 20 percent cut in spending without taking police officers off the street. I think we should start at the top and get rid of half of the assistants hired to help the

Los Gatos Creek shows the effect of a wet winter with wild flowers and weeds in abundance. So far in May there has been no rain, reports Bob James of the Campbell Water Company, but there's still five days to go. Campbell has recorded 24.03 inches of rain for the year which ends June 30, three times the amount last year at this time (8.00 inches). "Usually rain is almost nil in May and June," James says, "but we may get a storm or two yet." He has a special reason for keeping an eye out since he predicted 25 inches at the beginning of the season. (Photography by Amy Huntoon)

Speed limit changes

By MIKE MYSLINSKI

STARTING in July, Campbell motorists will be governed by several new city speed zones.

Monday night the City Council, approved requests made by Police Chief Don Burr for the alteration of speed limits on key city streets.

Modification of speed limits on the following streets received unanimous council approval: White Oaks and Hacienda ave., lowered to 30 mph, E. Campbell ave. from Railway to Bascom, raised to 35 mph and Campbell ave. (except downtown) raised to 30 mph.

On a 3-2 vote the council also approved the raising of the current 25 mph speed limit to 30 mph along the city's loop streets, Orchard City and Civic Center drive.

COUNCILMEN Ralph Doetsch and Bill Podgorsek voted against the loop street modifications.

City Attorney Bob Dempster said the speed zone changes take effect a month after the council's second reading of its motion, scheduled for the June 5 meeting.

A month ago the council rejected a much longer list of proposed speed zone modifications, prepared by Chief Burr and City Assistant Civil Engineer Keith Manley, because the list included requests to increase speed limits on several residential streets.

As directed by the council, Chief Burr reviewed the list and returned with his recommendations Monday night.

Burr reiterated the problem his department is having making traffic tickets stick in court.

A STATE-MANDATED survey showed that many Campbell speed limits are outdated and for that reason local traffic courts reject the tickets.

While further study of other speed zone modifications continues, Burr convinced the council that certain changes were needed right away.

In other action Monday night, the council:

* Approved the formation of a parking district and a local improvement district near The Factory to pay for 478 "improved parking spaces." Total construction costs for the parking structure will be an estimated $1.8 million. At its June 19 meeting the council will award the bid for the project.

* APPROVED FOR first reading an ordinance permitting James Lampe to construct a 45-unit apartment complex at 280, 282 and 300 Union Ave. Bruce Johnson, a spokesman for Lampe, said construction is scheduled to begin in August and that the project should be completed in one year.

* Awarded a $296,000 contract to the Collishaw Corp. for the Phase — renovation of Los Gatos Creek with the stipulation that the included fishing pier and asphalt walkway may be deleted at a future date.

* Referred to the planning commission and the city school site task force a letter from Renaldo Santa, Commissioner of the West Santa Clara Valley Youth Soccer Association, expressing concern that local school districts might sell closed schools, rather than retain them for community use.

103 years young this Monday

Celebrating her 103rd birthday this Monday, May 29 will be Sarah Becker shown with her granddaughter Pat Pfiffer of Milpitas. For the past three years Sarah has been a resident of the Camden Convalescent Hospital of Campbell and has her good days and bad days, according to Pat. The day this picture was taken was a good day and she sang for the photographer Amy Huntoon. Born May 29, 1875 in San Francisco, Sarah and her husband Peter, superintendent of a box factory in San Francisco, lived for over 60 years in the city by the Bay. Sarah worked at one time as a maid for the director of the St. Francis Hotel and was also a hair dresser. Her husband, who she calls "Handsome Pete" died in 1940. The couple had three children (now deceased), six grandchildren, 10 great grandchildren and 8 great, great grandchildren. Sarah, who loves to kid the nurses, looks forward to her birthday party this Monday and to her daily shot of whiskey; medicinal of course. She prefers bourbon straight, her granddaughter says. The family didn't know how old Sarah was until several years ago when her records were needed to admit her to a convalescent hospital. "She said it isn't polite to ask a lady her age," Pat said. "She also says it isn't how old you are it's how you feel." Sarah has many decendents living in this area including four great grandchildren in Milpitas and four great grandchildren in San Jose.

Mayor's frog wouldn't budge

The Campbell PRESS frog entered in the Calavares County Jumping Frog Jubilee at Angel's Camp last weekend came away with a respectable showing while the amphibian entered for Mayor Dean Chamberlin was disqualified.

Pica Pete, entered for the PRESS by Leland Blalock of Campbell tied for second in the media division with a leap of 18 feet 11 inches. The other second place winner represented the Arkansas Log Cabin Democrat. Winner in that division was another Arkansas newspaper with 19 feet 2½ inches.

According to Blalock. Chamberlin's frog, named Big Red, was disqualified in the mayor's division when he sat on the starting pad longer than the 15 seconds allowed.

Last year the PRESS frog, named the Campbell Kid, came in first in the media division.

While Pica Pete qualified for the finals, his second jump was only 16 feet, 8 inches which left him out of the money. Top winner was "Last Chance" entered by Bruce Hamilton of Los Altos who jumped 18 feet 11 inches.

About 2,000 frogs were entered in the 50th frog jump contest at Angel's camp this year.

No wrong doing C.U.S.D. says

Teacher leader takes 'fraud' case to DA

A TEACHERS union officer, who charges a fradulent document was entered into evidence at a recent teacher dismissal hearing, has taken his case to the Campbell police and the district attorney's office.

Gordon Martin, president of the West Valley Federation of Teachers, local 1953, said Monday he's asking the DA's office to investigate the charges "and take action if appropriate."

The Campbell elementary district's response to the charges, through a letter written by Selby Brown, Jr., county counsel, to Martin last week, is a strong denial of any wrong doing.

"Accordingly, we are proceeding upon the assumption that this matter is now closed," Brown concluded.

MARTIN'S CHARGES center around a resolution adopted by the school board March 9 which contained seven numbered items relating to a reduction of services.

"When the document, which was the basis for termination of teachers, was entered into evidence at a formal dismissal hearing by the State Office of Administrative Hearings, it contained eight numbered items," Martin charged. "A district official testified under oath that the falsified document was in fact the resolution adopted by the school board," Martin claims.

When subpoenaed by the teachers union, Martin said, two trustees testified the district's exhibit was not a true copy of the official board record signed by one of them as Board Clerk. The trustee was not aware of the change, Martin added.

According to Brown's letter, the original document was misplaced and a second resolution reconstructed from a March 10 dismissal letter was prepared.

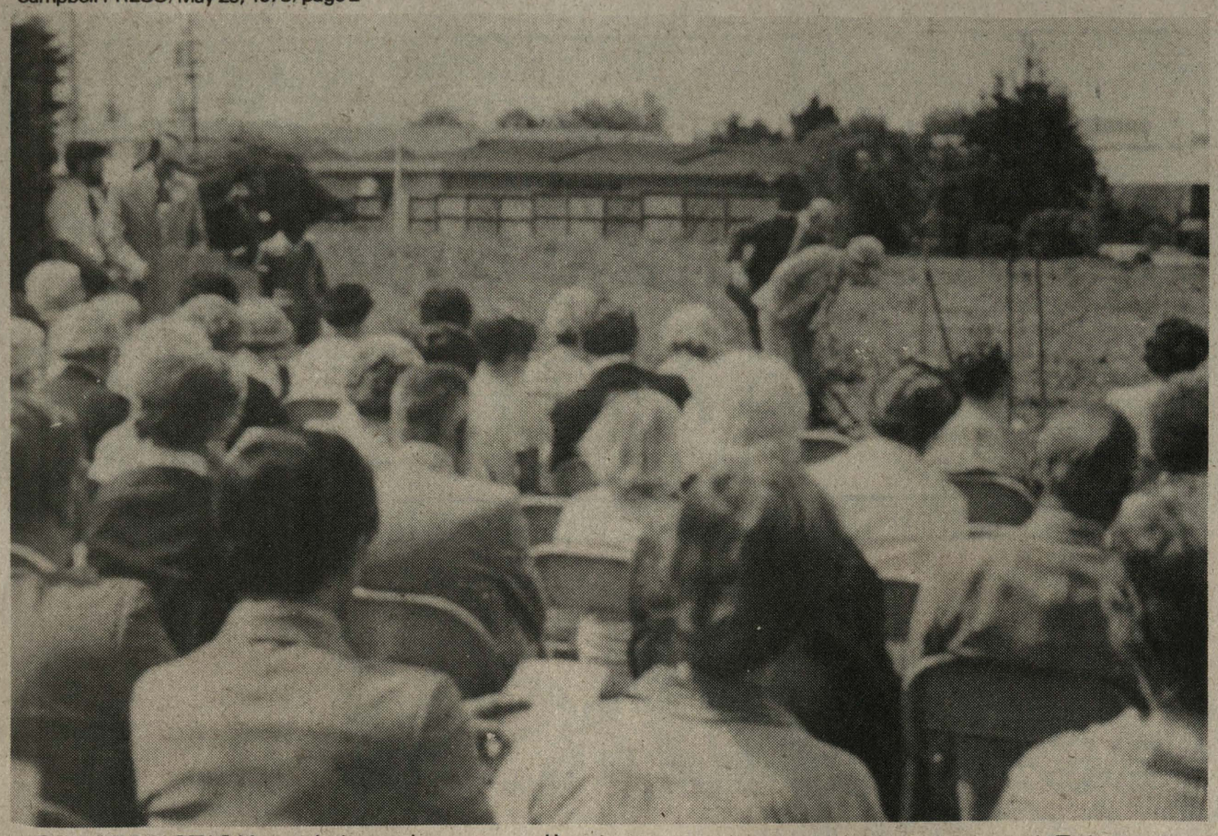
THE SECOND resolution, also signed by the Clerk, included the position of teacher of the visually handicapped, which the board took action to eliminate at their Jan. 19 meeting.

The administrative law judge later ruled this position could not be used as a basis for reducing the teaching staff since that position had been vacant for some time.

"We made a determined but unsuccessful effort to induce the board to assume responsibility for taking this matter to the authorities," Martin declared in a letter dated May 19, "While we found two trustees very concerned, the general reaction has been one of "cover-up" and "stonewall it." The district disputes those charges.

"MEMBERS OF the Governing Board and the District's administrative staff have investigated the matter and have participated with me in the drafting of this response," Brown wrote last week after Martin met with the board in executive session to discuss the issue.

"The innocence of all parties concerned is corroborated by the fact that copies of both "resolutions' were readily made available at the hearing," Brown responded. "Further, the inclusion of the visually handicapped position in the second resolution is really irrelevant, since the person involved had resigned from the district long before the March 9, 1978 action."



CONSTRUCTION work is underway on the 156-unit senior housing development, Wesley Manor, administered by the Santa Clara Methodist Retirement Foundation, Inc. Above, at groundbreaking ceremonies attended by more than 100 people, foundation president Cecil Keller and Mrs. Robert Sargent, wife of the late foundation consultant, do the honors. The 12-story complex, located at 1655 S. Winchester blvd., near Hamilton should be open around February of 1979, Keller said last week. The 100 per cent federally financed and managed project will offer subsidized housing with seniors paying no more than 25 per cent of their monthly income for rent and one meal a day. Keller says there has been keen interest in the project with 200 to 300 calls from prospective tenants so far. For more information call 243-6226.

TASK FORCE ON TRACK FACILITY

Complaints about noise generated at a recent high school track meet held at the Saratoga campus led to the formation of an ad hoc committee to come up with a compromise policy on use of the track facility.

Members of the West Valley Taxpayers and Environmental Association took issue with the board.

Saratoga residents Jeff Schwartz and Vic Monia told trustees a city noise ordinance had been violated during the track meet and asked the college to discontinue such types of meets.

Trustee Wade Brummal initially called for the college to close down the facility entirely, supported by Trustees Foster Lopes and John Cantlen.

Gary Hubbard, coordinator of community services, suggested a committee be set up to try and work out a compromise policy.

Cantlen and Trustees Robert Sorenson and Robert Brydon were named to the group plus Schwartz, Monia and Jim Stuart. The group will also include one administrator, one student, one Saratoga City Council member and a faculty member.

BONANNO PROBATION HEARING

A federal judge ruled last week that Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno of Campbell and his brother, Joseph Bonanno Jr. of Los Gatos violated the terms of their probation by failing to accurately report their monthly income and earnings.

Another charge that they threatened the life of Michael (Mickey) Ferreira Jan. 30 in Los Gatos, was not sustained. Judge Robert F. Peckham rejected the allegation of Ferreira, awaiting trial on felony charges, as lacking credibility.

Peckham also found Bill guilty of associating with known felons.

A hearing on the possible revocation of the brother's probation is set for June 2 at 9:30 a.m. Both were convicted in 1971 of extortion. Bill is 10 months away from completing his probation and Joseph three months.

CAMPBELL MAN WRECKS HOME

A 60 year-old Campbell man, apparently upset over the break-up of his marriage, virtually destroyed the contents of his home on W. Latimer ave. Monday morning. The estimate of damages ranges from $20,000 to $35,000.

According to reports, the man's estranged wife called police about 9 a.m. Monday to report he was destroying the interior of their home. Since it is not against the law to destroy your own possessions the police said they could not intervene. When police received another report about a half hour later, they called the man who said he would continue to destroy the home and also planned to burn down the house. Police promised to try and contact his wife, to calm him down.

Later that morning police arrived with the mobile mental health unit to take the man into protective custody but he had gone, leaving the home in a shambles.

Contact with the man was made later at a friend's apartment in Saratoga and he was taken to the mental health unit of Valley Medical Center for observation.

SMILE . . . YOU'RE ON CAMERA

One suspect is under arrest on charges of burglary, possession of stolen property and conspiracy and two other men are being sought by Campbell police after a plan to steal $6,600 worth of film processing equipment was thwarted.

According to reports, a sales representative of a Dell ave. firm was contacted by another employee who offered to sell x-ray film processors for $2,000 each. They are valued at $3,300 wholesale and sell for close to $5,000.

Suspicious, the man contacted the company owner and Campbell police who were nearby when the suspect met with the salesman to discuss the deal.

At the prearranged time Agent Eric Pearson and Officer John Curtis were staked out behind the Dell Ave. firm and recorded the theft of the processors on film with a telephoto lens.

When the suspect exchanged the equipment for cash later that day police had the salesman wearing a recording device.

One suspect, a 21 year-old San Jose man, was arrested a short time later and two accomplices are being sought.

The case and the equipment were recovered.

MOTHER ARRESTED FOR CHILD ABUSE

A young Campbell woman was booked into county jail on charges of child abuse last week after a local teacher called police when she noticed a 9 year old student was injured.

Investigation by police led to the arrest of the woman, and her two children, 8 and 9 years old, were taken into protective custody.

Investigating officers found large scale bruising on the youngsters who said their mother repeatedly beat them with her hands, a hairbrush, a dog leash and chains.

STORAGE YARD BURGLARIZED

A young San Jose woman returned to a storage yard on Salmar ave. last Friday to find $3,225 in household items missing from the storage locker she was renting. The padlock had been broken off.

Missing, in addition to furniture, a refrigerator and a rug were several boxes of infant's clothing.

SINGLED out from more than 100 design firms for recognition recently was R. L. Ferguson, left, shown receiving an award from William Nelson, representing the Construction Council of California. The local man, who has been in business here for 30 years, was picked for the top draftsman award at the annual conference. Ferguson, who has designed and planned many apartment houses, custom homes and professional buildings in the area, maintains an office on N. First st. He and his wife, Ruth, are the parents of two grown children and live at 839 Ricky drive.

"HAPPINESS IS A DRY BED"

Kudos for Del Mar play

EDITOR:

It is unusual when a high school play can create such an impact that you are thinking about it and talking it up days after. Such a phenomenon was "The Miracle Worker," the William Gibson vehicle depicting Helen Keller's encounter with her teacher, Annie Sullivan, in 1880 in Alabama, performed so ably by students of Del Mar High School May 11-12-13.

De Anza College "guest" director was Nick Nichols. A more consummate achievement with teenagers I have seldom witnessed in more than 25 years of theater-going at the secondary school level. The novel conception of his sets, subtle use of the "East of Eden" theme music and violet lighting for the interior monolog sequences gave professional touches enhancing the otherwise top performances of the cast.

Starring in the play about a blind girl, also born deaf, who is made to discover a full existence through learning to use words, was senior Dvora Feigon who really made Helen Keller live and further, made you identify with her herculean struggle to speak and read. Complementing her performance every stop of the torturous way was senior Robyn McClain, whose portrayal of Helen's teacher was both poignant and breathtaking.

Accolades also to John Norden, whose Captain Keller, Helen's father, was both authoratative and convincing.

Others who did so well to make the entire evening memorable were Russ Gartz, Ellen, Koivisto, Rennee Starks, Bob Rystad, Paula Fortier, George Gemette, Remena James and a standout as the unruly stepson, sophomore Marc Kane.

FED UP

This is to the Prune Picker. The cutting back of police, fire and paramedic service is not my idea. That distinction belongs to the city and department administrators. I like Mr. J.W. Jeager's editorial idea: "We are being told about reduced services — Let's start at the top by cutting their salaries." The city can cut a lot of fringe services but not our vital services. Believe me, without our police, fire and paramedics people will get robbed, houses will burn down and people will die. Write the City Council and tell them how you feel about cutting our vital services.

CURIOUS

Editor's note: Yes. Our endorsements for individual races as well as the state propositions will be carried in the June 1 edition.

I'm a dog lover and I don't think it's fair to keep dogs out of the city park paid for by all of us, including pet owners. I don't feel animals should run loose or disturb others but if dog owners are responsible for them I don't see the problem.

CANINE KATE

It seems to me that the ban on animals at John D. Morgan Park is a moot point. Your article this week says there were 802 contacts with pet owners and calls to animal control in the last 10 months. That's more than two a day. So, even with the law against animals in the park, it isn't working. Maybe if the fine were stiffer, people would think twice before bringing their dog to the park.

FOR LAW AND ORDER

Editor's note: The latest word we received from the local municipal court was that fines of $35 are being imposed.

There are five sewing machines broken down at Rolling Hills Junior High School and they have been since February. About two weeks ago I talked to the vice principal and then went to the district office to see the assistant business manager. I understand the district was told someone would be out to fix them right away but not one has. I want to know why?

A MOTHER

Editor's note: According to Betty Brannan at the Campbell elementary district office, there were some problems with getting those repairs made. The machines were originally serviced by one firm, which has since dropped their repairs and service and calls to a second firm got promises to be "out the next day" but no one showed up. A third firm was contacted late last week and they were to pick up machines at Rolling Hills and at Campbell Junior High for repair this Tuesday. Also, a school district official said, just two machines were originally on the blink but, in the last two months, the number has grown to five.

Diridon vs. Mehrkens -- again

A familiar tune to supervisor race

By JEFF MOAD

If the Santa Clara County District 4 supervisor race were a song, you might find yourself singing along. It's not that there's a lot of harmony, but it's a very familiar tune.

In 1975, then-Saratoga City Councilman Rod Diridon was a surprise winner over 16-year supervisor Ralph H. Mehrkens, becoming the youngest elected supervisor in the history of the county. Mehrkens went into retirement after his 1975 defeat. Now, however, Mehrkens is back, and this time he is the challenger and Diridon is the strong favorite.

Mehrkens attributes his 1975 loss to a faulty reelection campaign which was hampered by illness in his family. This year, Mehrkens said, he decided to run after Diridon's only early campaign opponents dropped out of the race, and friends and supporters sought him out.

AGE QUESTION

Mehrkens says it feels good to be back in the political ring, but he is irked by one habit of campaign observers. "All you fellows keep asking me how old I am," complained Mehrkens who is now 70. "I'm healthier than any of us. That is not a problem," he said.

Mehrkens is campaigning on government spending, and land use issues and on what he calls the "politicization" of county government. "There is no coordination on the Board of Supervisors," says Mehrkens. "Everything is decided on a 4-1 or 2-3 vote, and there is always bickering, sarcasm and arrogance, except by (District 1 Supervisor) Sig Sanchez. The whole operation should be more business-like, with dignity for a better image of the Board of Supervisors," says Mehrkens.

Mehrkens says the supervisors' staffs and individual public relations have grown since he was a supervisor, and with them the county budget has ballooned. Politically-motivated spending on such items as county parks and transit, Mehrkens charges, has pushed the county budget up from $285 million in 1974-75 to $435 million in 1977-78. "The trend of county government has just got to back up and be more economical," says Mehrkens.

Diridon answers the figures quoted by Mehrkens reflect programs such as transit and welfare which are funded by the state and federal government, in addition to local property tax funds. Eighty-eight percent of county revenue comes from state and federal sources, Diridon says.

PROPERTY TAX

The property tax portion of the county budget has grown just from $105 million in 1975 to $129 million last year, says Diridon, who takes credit for a decrease of over 40 cents in the county general fund tax rate in the past three years. In Mehrkens' 16-year tenure, Diridon says, the tax rate rose over 89 cents. In 1970-71, the tax rate rose over 38 cents on top of a 13-percent average increase in the assessed valuation county-wide.

"When I came on the board, there was a tradition that nobody rock the boat," said Diridon, who called Mehrkens' tenure "years of blind government, designed to avoid involvement through day meetings, part time supervisors who didn't receive calls, and avoided staff who were run by county bureaucrats."

BUDGET

"The first thing I did as a supervisor was to begin to question the budget," said Diridon, who noted the supervisors this year agreed to cut the property tax rate by the average county assessed valuation increase, about 22 percent this year. With a population of 310,000, District 4 is the county's most dense. It is the smallest in area, however, including Saratoga, Campbell, Santa Clara and West San Jose.

ABAG

During much of his tenure as a supervisor, Mehrkens represented a District 1 which included both Saratoga and Campbell. He also was, at one time, president of the then-fledgling Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG). Diridon is now ABAG President, and Mehrkens is highly critical of ABAG which he says has grown from a loose, advisory association to a new level of regional government, dictating to local county and city governments. Mehrkens said he would urge Santa Clara County to pull out of ABAG.

Mehrkens is particularly critical of the ABAG land use management plan, part of its comprehensive nine county Environmental Management Program until it was dropped last month under considerable attack from local governments throughout the Bay Area. The plan would have encouraged local governments to zone for high-density, urban development on the grounds that it is more easily accessible to mass transit and other government services.

Diridon got the county to support the Environmental Management Plan and its land use element, but he was not so successful elsewhere in the county. He now calls the process which led up to the decision to drop the land use plan "the finest example of democracy in action that I have seen." Diridon says he is not entirely happy with the compromise plan, but notes it has been endorsed by conservation, business groups and labor organizations.

Diridon denies that ABAG is taking over as a new layer of regional government. The federal government, he says, has mandated some form of regional planning agency through which it funnels federal funds. In other states, regional agencies have been imposed by the state.

HILL ZONING

Another planning issue on which Mehrkens and Diridon split is the county's new 20-acre minimum lot zoning in over 250,000 acres of unincorporated county land. Diridon has been a strong supporter of the rezoning, calling it "the most important issue since I have been on the board."

Under the plan, unincorporated property, much of which was formerly zoned for 2 1/ 2-acre lots, could be subdivided in sections no smaller than 20 acres. Depending on the slope of the property, minimum lots size could rise to 160 acres.

The board majority behind the rezoning, Diridon, Dan McCorquodale and Gerry Steinberg, say it will encourage new residential development in flat, urban areas where services are easier and cheaper to provide. The rezoning has drawn strong opposition from Valley Realtors and builders and from owners of unincorporated lands who say the board has robbed them of their ability to build on the property. Mehrkens says the rezoning will, in the long run, reduce housing stock in the county and drive the price of Santa Clara Valley housing and property still higher. "And there's no way it will preserve agriculture," says Mehrkens. "No one can farm on a 20-acre parcel."

Diridon answers that the 20-acre zone is not an attempt to preserve agriculture. The county has imposed a 40-acre zone in parts of the South County for that, he said.

Instead, says Diridon, the rezoning will trade "17,000 homes in the unincorporated area on septic tanks and well water for 300,000 new homes next to cities and reached by city services." Diridon said the supervisors will review all alleged hardship cases in an effort to eliminate unfairness to landowners. He said special consideration may be given to properties in the Redwood Estates and Holy City areas where much urban-type subdivision already has been developed.

TRANSIT SYSTEM

Diridon and Mehrkens point the finger of blame at one another when it comes to taking responsibility for the recent failure of the county's transit system. Bus service came to a halt late last year after inadequacy in the system's maintenance procedures forced the California Highway Patrol to insist buses get repaired or stay off the road.

Mehrkens charges that the system's problems stem from supervisors intruding into the operation of the system for political reasons. The board also acts as the County Transit Board, and Mehrkens says the supervisors stretched the county bus system too thin in an effort to please constituents. "The supervisors should keep out of administration of the transit system and get knowledgeable people to run it," says Mehrkens, who added he has confidnece in the county's transit administration.

Diridon contends problems with the transit system started under Mehrkens when the county took over "80 junkers" from private local transit operations, ordered a switch from diesel to propane engines and set up the disasterously expensive "Dial-a-Ride" system. On top of that, Diridon says, the board hired "someone who had no knowledge of mass transit" (James Pott) to run the system "just because they knew him and liked him."

Diridon says he tried to have Pott replaced since 1975. Last year he was successful. Diridon contends the system is now well on its way to recovery. The county is planning to purchase 516 new buses, build new maintenance facilities and start on a light rail starter segment, Diridon said.

PROP. 13

Mehrkens, who says as a supervisor he helped establish better radio communication systems countywide and improved ambulance service, is strongly supporting Prop. 13, the Jarvis-Gann property tax reform measure. He says, although the initiative is "a very harsh measure", it will help curb government spending and relieve property taxpayers from supporting services not related to property.

Diridon opposes Jarvis-Gann, predicting that government revenue bonds would go into default and critical government services would have to be cut. Diridon supports Prop. 8 and the Behr Bill property tax reform alternatives because he said, they would provide tax bill relief to both homeowners and renters.

While Diridon has received endorsement and financial support from many county labor groups, Mehrkens' backing is from building and real estate interests. Compared to the County District 1 supervisor race where 15 can-[illegible] have been low-key. Mehrkens so far has limited his efforts to precinct walking and public appearances.

Mehrkens said if voters elect him to the District 4 seat they can safely assume he will seek no higher political office. Diridon calls himself a "professional politician" who wants to be recognized as a statesman. "My goal is to do the best job I can. If that qualifies me for higher [illegible] I would be pleased to

Turn those white elephants loose, Aries

May 27 through June 2

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Pruning now inspires fuller flowering later. Get emotional housecleaning under way. Hang on to what really matters, Ari, and toss all else. Turn white elephants loose. Ditto albatross around your neck.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Rub-a-dub-dub, three in a tub, and one of the three is pouting. Someone has to get out or you all sink. Seniority takes precedence, Taurus, so last in is first to go. Week ends with a splash.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Rolling stone appears. This party is a real smoothie, so watch out. To save self, Gem, plot points on compass to include more than one direction. Week spins to a noisy end.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Career highlighted. Lay an egg this week, Moonbaby, and you deserve to have your brains scrambled. Go back to original outline. Revise. A straw here, a ribbon there, and before you know it your nest is complete and you have something to crow about.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Mystery begins. Grab your magnifying glass, Sherlock, for clues abound. Prof. Moriarty (The Madman of Maumee) storms on the scene making it hard to keep hounds at bay, but you finally get your second wind and solution (which is slightly irregular) emerges. Alimentary lesson is learned.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Associate knows where all bodies are buried, Virgo, so keep profile low. Toddle down the old straight and narrow and avoid pain of thorns on primrose path. You comprehend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Before flying any kites, Libra, be sure you know which way the wind blows. Subtle inquiry gives clue to possible snag. Advice from friend can prevent preliminary tangle. On last day, cut out, cut loose and then "cut up."

SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Pressure you feel may be result of painful harness. Adjustment should be made before you really get sore. As week ends, relaxation begins. Slip into your boogie shoes and catch the fever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Everything may seem to be in slow motion. If energy is low postpone decisions until later date. More exercise may be key to feeling better. A walk in the sunshine will clear your head as well as your sinuses. Last day finds you breathing easy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Reason is a stranger to your heart this week, Cap. Your gut reactions will be right on target. Pay attention to your feelings, and intellectualize some other time. Week ends with a sigh.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): After you pay most pressing bills, treat yourself to a tiny luxury. A concert, a movie, a book, a bottle of champagne — whatever pleases you most. After all, Aquari, if you don't spoil yourself once in a while, who will?

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Change highlighted. You benefit, Pisces my pet. Key is to remain flexible. Member of another generation opens door. Enter softly. Week ends with a "shnhh."

12th State Senatorial race

Conservative vs. liberal philosophies clash in race for Smith's senate post

By DOANE YAWGER

DISTINGUISHING the issues is not always simple in an election contest, but the race for the 12th State Senatorial District seems to boil down basically to a conservative versus liberal confrontation.

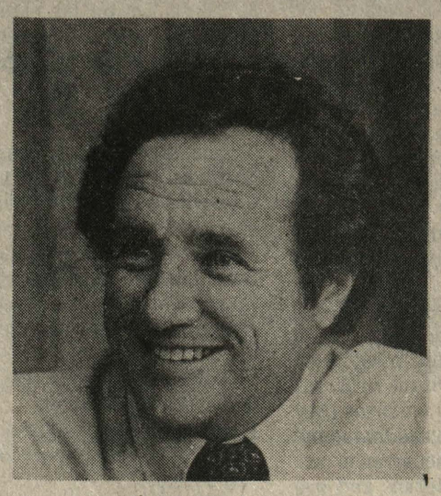
First-term incumbent Jerry Smith defends his record while his Democratic primary challenger, Shirley Hendrickson, and two Republican opponents disagree and espouse more conservative viewpoints.

Smith feels he has made government more accessible to the people and authored several significant pieces of legislation. Hendrickson attacks Smith and his fellow legislators for being out of step with public wishes.

The man Smith defeated four years ago, then-incumbent Clark Bradley, feels the difference between him and Smith is a clash between liberal and conservative philosophy.

Bradley's GOP opponent, Mark Hart, disagrees more with the former solon's method of operating than his political stands. And Hendrickson expects election results to be a surprise.

Both Hart and Hendrickson are highly critical of the government "establishment."



Jerry Smith

SMITH, a 41-year-old attorney who upset Bradley in a heated 1974 race, feels quality of life is a key election issue and it is important everyone has good air, water and crime-free streets.

Smith helped write Proposition 8 which rivals the Jarvis-Gann initiative (Prop. 13) on the June 6 ballot and feels the tax relief choice ultimately is up to the people.

While saying the outcome of the Prop. 8-13 voting will be very close, Smith would make no prediction. He did say passage of Prop. 13 will mean further cuts in services to citizens.

Smith feels his first obligation is his work in Sacramento, meaning he is by necessity a weekend campaigner. But he is very pleased with his record and says he has good legislative accomplishments.

CALLING legislative service "generally a very positive experience," Smith said a key election issue is recognition of senior citizens. By getting rid of the mandatory 65 retirement age and creating property tax relief, the elderly are being helped.

The 12th senatorial district has about 230,000 voters and takes in all of Santa Clara, Los Gatos, Monte Sereno, Campbell, Saratoga, Los Altos Hills, Los Altos and about a third of San Jose.

Smith is proud of the 32 town hall meetings he has held in three years, along with the two dozen "sidewalk office hours" where he set up a card table on Saturdays at local supermarkets and shopping centers to visit constituents.

He believes his efforts to get accountability and responsiveness in government have worked. He also says he has helped carry most tax reform packages in the state legislature.

Shirley Hendrickson

ON THE other hand, Hendrickson is a strong supporter of Prop. 13 and calls the bill Smith helped author (Prop. 8) the "Behr trap." She said she is deeply concerned about Smith's memory on key issues and feels he has not effectively represented the district.

"Prop. 13 will work if the right people are in Sacramento to implement it. One of my main goals is to take the excess spending out of government and one of my main priorities would be to seek out the fat. I definitely think Prop. 13 will be passed," she said.

Also 41, Hendrickson has lived in Cupertino 16 years. She does not consider herself a politician but said her chances of victory are excellent, otherwise she would not have entered the race.

"My main concern now is our state and local governments. I remember back on the farm in Missouri that we had to watch the peanuts roasting on the old wood stove very carefully to prevent burning them; it is my opinion that state and local governments are roasting their citizens until they burn with taxes. In the process, they are destroying the very thing that has made our country great — free enterprise," Hendrickson said.

For 3½ years Smith has been part of the problem, not the solution, she says. She also said she has run out of patients over the "all talk, no show" performance of some legislators.

Clark Bradley

BRADLEY, 69, a GOP solon for 22 years, feels he was a victim of the Watergate backlash, and comments that 1974 voter turnout was 61 percent instead of the normal 75 percent. He said many people have told him they thought he was "safe" and would be sure to vote for him this time.

"So many liberals want to expand the size and scope of government in just about every facet, with more and more government, bureaucracy and more taxes. The lopsided liberal majority in the Senate and Assembly is not in the public's best interest. We need to balance that up," Bradley said.

Thinking this will be a good Republican year nationwide particularly with President Carter's poor performance and Governor Brown's sliding popularity, Bradley said he always has been interested in government and retirement is not what it is cracked up to be.

Replying to questions about his age, Bradley quipped if Sen. S. I. Hayakawa can do it, so could he. Only he would not give away the Panama Canal.

"A conservative point of view can be just as progressive but you don't try to bring about utopia overnight no matter what the expense. Every session of the state legislature they add to the already-overwhelming volume of laws and take away more and more individual choice and control," Bradley said.

He said he is not opposed to the principle of tax relief but is opposed to both Prop. 8 and Prop. 13.

Mark Hart

HART, calling himself a "young 60," termed his battle with Bradley a "low-key campaign." He said Bradley is not visible and has no vim, vigor or vitality.

"My chances of beating Smith in the fall are excellent. It will be a highly-visible campaign. This is one of the best conservative GOP districts and I feel I am one of the most viable candidates," Hart said.

Hart said while he might vote identically on issues with Bradley, he disagrees with his approach. Hart said he has no interest in becoming part of an "elite, crony group running the show."

"If he (Bradley) did not make an impact in 22 years, why does he want back? I am a seasoned campaigner and I look for quite a bit of party support. I believe in the aggregate wisdom of the people without a lot of interference from government," Hart said.

A LICENSED swimming pool contractor in Sunnyvale, Hart says he is "very much for" Prop. 13 although it is a "crummy" initiative. He expects it to pass.

Like Hendrickson, he says the public is way ahead of the legislature and is ready for a conservative point of view.

Hart said he disagrees with practically everything Smith does and says the incumbent is perfectly typical of what is wrong with government today.

Spending

Santa Clara County registrar's office officials said Smith had $41,085 in cash on hand when the first campaign financing statement period ended in April. Campaign records show he had $27,319 available in January, spent $32,846 during the period and received $46,612.

Hendrickson had $1,302 remaining in her campaign chest as of April 17 and spent $2,399 since mid-March. Hart had $66 cash remaining in his campaign account through April 23 after receiving $510 and spending $443.

Bradley, according to registrar's information, ended the first filing period with a deficit of $5.55 after spending $255.55 and receiving $250.

Geary faces opponents / Six challengers seeking sheriff's post

By MAUREEN MACKEY

LEADERSHIP, morale, the incumbent's health and decentralization of the sheriff's department are the prime issues being debated in the crowded race for county sheriff.

Six contenders and the current Sheriff James Geary are fighting for the position. Five of the six challengers are employees in the sheriff's department; the other is a San Jose police sergeant.

Winter

Among the challengers, Sheriff's Lt. Robert Winter has prepared a "Winter Plan" which he would implement if elected sheriff. It calls for decentralization of the sheriff's department into substations located throughout the county.

Specifically, Winter espouses locating one substation in the west side of the valley on the site of a closed school. He suggests that another substation could be established in the east side at a closed fire station at Aborn and White Roads.

Winter argues that sheriff's deputies now spend about $450,000 in traveling expenses each year going to and from their beats from the headquarters downtown.

He is now assigned as lieutenant in charge of court security services.

He adds that the $80,000 estimated initial cost to set up the substations would be compensated for quickly in travel cost savings. He also contends that the substations would free the building downtown for remodeling as a county jail. Since the building is already built to medium security specifications, the remodeling could be done for about $2 million, while it would coast $5-7 million to build a new jail.

Winter, 47, has been with sheriff's department for 18 years, with six years prior experience in the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department. He has spent $20,000 to date on his campaign and has collected $10,000 more which he expects to spend before the election.

Jimenez

Despite the "Winter Plan," another candidate, Sheriff's Deputy Robert Jimenez, claims that he was the first to come up with the idea of substations back in February of this year, and that other candidates have been copying his platform.

Jimenez, 37, is calling for a "clean sweep" of the department, which he faults as now having "no effective leadership, direction, or sense of caring." He also criticized the "dictatorial power" in the department.

He is assigned to the court security services section.

"Where are all the deputies who supported Sam Della Maggiore (former Santa Clara County Supervisor)? They've been dismissed, written up or sent to Siberia."

Jimenez said that his goals as sheriff would include strong crime prevention programs and town meetings each month in the cities the department serves which he as sheriff would attend. He also suggested that the sites of closed schools could be used as senior citizen centers, youth centers and community centers as well as substations in order to give the department greater visibility and reduce crime.

He has been with the department for almost four years. Prior to that he taught political science, U.S. history and social sciences full-time at Evergreen College and San Jose State University. He is currently teaching U.S. history at night.

Jiminez has spent about $6,000 on his campaign to date, and anticipates spending another $20,000 before the election.

McCabe

Deputy Patrick T. McCabe lays a unique claim to the office of sheriff; his ancestor, also P.T. McCabe, was sheriff of the Santa Clara County in the 1850s.

"I figured it was about time to follow in my ancestor's footsteps," he said.

McCabe, 53, has been with the department for 25 years, and he said he has worked in all the divisions. He said that as sheriff he would be a "working sheriff as opposed to a professional politician" and would try to eliminate fraternalism in the department.

He also is a court security deputy.

McCabe said that one of his top priorities as sheriff would be to straighten out internal problems within the department. He said that there are too many warring factions there now, with no strong leadership. As sheriff he said he would maintain an open door policy so that any member of the department could discuss problems with him.

He also believes strongly that the deputies should be given more freedom to have a say in the firearms they use and uniforms they wear. He argued that some men in the department are Vietnam veterans and are more comfortable using military-type pistols than the required six-shot Colt or Smith and Wesson revolvers, which he said were used by the cowboys 100 years ago.

He said that officers in other agencies are given more freedom to use different types of pistols. He also argued that the "cowboy hats" worn by the deputies are impractical and not suited to the low roofs inside their squad cars.

In McCabe's opinion, substations are not a good idea because people living near to closed schools will object to the sites being converted and to having criminals brought there.

He also advocated that the residents at the department's Elmwood facility farm the land there to provide foodstuffs to the county jail population.

McCabe has spent about $1,500 so far on his campaign, and said that he will have spent a total of about $2,500 by the election.

Saldivar

Sheriff's Lt. Richard Saldivar is another candidate who is against the idea of substations. Saldivar said that substations would decentralize the department, which is not large enough at this point for decentralization.

Saldivar, 42, has been with the department 18 years, and is currently director of the county narcotics bureau.

"My whole goal as sheriff would be to reorganize the department and conduct efficiency studies to reduce the waste in funding," he said.

If elected Saldivar would work to reorganize the rehabilitation programs at Elmwood and the work furlough program. He also would work on what he charges are low morale and cronyism currently in the department.

He also attacked what he termed to be an "intimidation" tactic used in the department.

"Intimidation is a tactic used by the administration to try and keep people in line," he said, "to the degree that if they stand up and speak they are subject to banishment and other 'administrative dilemmas,' and removed from positions they enjoy."

Another goal of Saldivar's would be to establish five basic advisory committees, one in each supervisorial district, composed of citizens, to be liaison to the department.

Saldivar has accused the incumbent of being a "part-time" sheriff who delegates the running of the department to others. He said that his charge has nothing to do with Geary's health after his heart attack last July.

To date Saldivar said he has raised $6,000 for his campaign.

Larsen

Sheriff's Deputy Mike Larsen is the youngest candidate for sheriff at 31. Larsen has been with the department for ten years, and spent one year prior to that with the Gilroy Police Department. He now is assigned to the criminal warrants section.

Larsen said that his main goal as sheriff would be to straighten out administrative problems. Among those, he lists more thorough evaluations of personnel. He said that evaluations now are "stereotyped," so that a deputy can get a standard good report despite a growing dissatisfaction his supervisors might have, and if the deputy is suddenly fired he does not understand why. Larsen said that the evaluations should reflect someone's actual performance on the job more closely.

Larsen said that the land at Elmwood could be farmed by the residents there and also suggested a greater use of the wood, metal and machine shops there in the rehabilitation programs.

He said that the substations were 'totally unfeasible." In his opinion there is a need for a new jail, but that to save transportation costs the department should bargain with the state and federal government for use of property across the street from the department on Hedding as a jail site.

Larsen has spent around $1,700 so far on his campaign, and plans to continue door-to-door campaigning throughout the county up to the election.

Blackmore

Charles Blackmore, a sergeant in the San Jose Police Department, is the only candidate who is not from the sheriff's department.

Blackmore, 44, is the son of the former San Jose Police Chief Ray Blackmore. Blackmore started his career with seven years in the Palo Alto Police Department, and has spent more than 13 with San Jose.

Blackmore said that there is low morale and a lack of strong leadership in the sheriff's department currently. He said that as sheriff he would work to create a more positive public image for the department, so that its deputies would have higher self-esteem. He added that if members of the department feel that there are definite opportunities for advancement, and publicly acknowledged for outstanding good work, the productivity and morale of the department will improve.

He also is against the idea of substations. He said that a new jail should be built if present overcrowding conditions persist, but suggested two ways to alleviate the overcrowding and avoid building a new jail.

One is through an aggressive crime prevention program to reduce the number of crimes by making people aware of ways to protect themselves. Another would be to refuse state subsidies for housing prisoners who would normally go to state prisons, forcing the state to "assume its burden" and ease conditions in local jails. The current subsidy, he said, goes to the county via the board of supervisors and the department does not even realize the full amount.

Geary's health in the wake of his heart attack is another big issue for Blackmore.

"To occupy a position like sheriff you need 100 percent of your health," said Blackmore. "It is physically and emotionally demanding. And someone who has had a heart attack should realize that he is not the same person he was before."

Blackmore currently sits on the San Jose Community College board, a position he does not intend to give up if elected sheriff. He said that by the election he will have spent about $6,000 on his campaign.

Geary

Sheriff James Geary contended that the real issue in this campaign is not leadership or morale, but his health. He said that other candidates are implying that he will not be physically able to serve another term.

"I'm in beter health now than I've been in 20 years," he answered charges. "I run two to three miles a day and also run a parcourse. If any one of those candidates has a medical degree then he can judge my health."

Geary's physician for over 20 years, Dr. Edgar LaVeque, concurred with his view.

"He (Geary) has done very well recuperating and is in better condition now than he was before his heart attack. There is no question in my mind that he can go through another term as sheriff."

The doctor added that Geary had undergone a total recovery from his heart attack, and that the sheriff is continuing the regimen of diet and exercise necessary to stay in good health.

As far as substations go, Geary said that they were needed only before modern modes of transportation and communication were invented. He said that the speed of radio dispatch, and the thorough freeway network in the county for traveling quickly to different destinations, made substations neither cost-effective nor cost-productive.

He said there is a "better than average chance" that funds for a new 150-180 bed jail would come through. He added that he would like to build the jail on a spot near the Civic Center and the court downtown.

He said anyone who claims candidates who opposed him unsuccessfully would later be penalized is a "damn liar," and asked for "just one name" of anyone who had suffered professionally in the past for running against him.

Geary termed his administration "progressive," and added that more has been accomplished in the past eight years than the thirty prior to them. The women's residentail program, where woman prisoners are allowed to have their preschool children with them, and the consolidation of the communications system and records within the department were some of the accomplishments he mentioned.

And to the accusation that he is a "part-time sheriff," Geary said that he was "there more than any of them are," referring to his opponents within the department.

If reelected, he said he would continue functional consolidation in the department, including the warrant division and detective system. He also said that he would continue to work on an anti-burglary program and on a program to reduce juvenile crime.

Geary said that total funds raised for his campaign would gross about $4,500, but after fund-raising expenses are paid only about $2,500 would be realized.

Geary has been with the sheriff's department for 30 years.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy Terrill, a registered dietitian and instructor at De Anza College, holds a M.S. in Nutrition from UC, Berkeley. Questions about nutrition are invited. Address all questions to: Dorothy Terrill, Nutrition Notes, Suburban Newspaper Publications, Inc., P.O. Box 368, Cupertino, 95014. Mrs. Terrill will answer questions as space allows.

QUESTIONS which frequently concern consumers are, "Just how long can I keep canned foods?" "Are any nutrients lost while on the shelf?"

According to one food scientist, canned vegetables stored at room temperature lost about 1 percent of their nutrients each month and most canned fruits lost about 1.1 percent a month. A lower temperature will help somewhat to retard losses so keeping the foods at as cool a temperature as practical is a good idea. The USDA recommends a dry storage place, preferably not above 70° F.

Consumers have no way of knowing how long the processed foods have been in the warehouse prior to being put on the shelf in the supermarket. After that, a layer of dust may be the only clue as to how long the food has actually stayed on the supermarket shelf.

TO COMBAT the problem, the New York State Consumer Protection Board has asked the FDA to require that canned foods be stamped with the date the food was packed. At the moment, existing regulations require that this information be on the can in codes which are not understood by consumers. An easily read packing date would alert consumers to older and possibly less-nutritious items. It would also help consumers to rotate foods at home and to use the older products first.

The president of the National Processors Association opposes this proposal for an open packing date. He says that most canned food products are marketed to consumers within two years after processing! If canned corn, for example, loses 1 percent of its nutrients per month, that means 24 percent of the nutrients may be gone before the products is even offered to consumers.

The food processors representative further stated that different foods have different shelf lives so the open dating would not be an indication of freshness or quality. However, if the FDA requires that the packing date be put on the label, it would be a first step in the ultimate goal of requiring the shelf life of the product to be stamped on the label as well.

THE FOOD processors resisted putting the drained weight on canned goods but are now doing so. It is undoubtedly true that consumers will eventually be able to read the packing date on canned goods and choose those that are freshest.

If 1 percent of the nutrients of canned green beans, for example, are actually lost each month, a can packed a year ago has lost 12 percent of its nutrients. That's something of concern to consumers. If you would like to have an open packing date on canned foods, write the FDA in Washington, D.C. in support of the proposal.

There does not seem to be any government information available about how long one can keep canned goods. Phone calls to the USDA — U. of California Co-operative Extension office, to the Food and Drug Administration, to the Santa Clara County Consumer Affairs Office, Santa Clara County Health Department and to the Santa Clara County Sanitation Department produced no information.

There is no USDA bulletin on storage life of canned foods, according to the Co-Operative Extension. The only office I called which was actually helpful was the Sanitation Department. They referred me to the Canners and Growers Association. This topic will be researched further and more information, if there is any, will be printed.

Five contenders for open post

A lively race for county assessor

By TOM GILSENAN

SKYROCKETING assessments and the incumbent's decision not to run again have stirred up unusual interest in the county assessor's race this year. Five candidates are running hard for the post, each hoping the voters will choose him to run the 300-person county department.

Dwight Mathiesen has been the county assessor since 1965. He has weathered several challenges, both in and out of election years. This year he decided not to run again, leaving a wide open race for the assessor's post.

Rapidly increasing assessments during the past few years have focused considerable attention on the assessor's post. The county assessor does not set tax rates, but the assessor does control one of the key ingredients in determining what your total tax bill will be each year.

It is the assessor who establishes the market value of your home. The tax rate multiplied by the assessed value (25 per cent of the market value) determines how much you will pay in taxes.

IN MOST AREAS of the county, assessed valuations are going up more than 20 per cent this year. That follows other big jumps each of the past two years.

One of the five candidates, Al Carlson, is now assistant county assessor. Carlson stresses his experience in the assessor's office in debates and campaign literature, saying he is best qualified because he has worked in the assessor's office so long. Endorsed by outgoing assessor Dwight Mathiesen, Carlson is banking heavily on this approach to win.

All the other candidates, however, are attacking Carlson's ties to the assessor's office. They say what is needed most now is someone who's independent from the present system.

Tom Goulding, an administrator in the City of Santa Clara city manager's office, says he is best qualified because of his administrative experience. He says the assessor's office has been controlled from "inside" for many years and promises a change.

ERNIE Konnyu, unsuccessful Republican candidate for Congress against Norman Mineta in 1976, complains that the assessor's office is beset by "inbreeding."

Andy Bonfield, a tax consultant, says Carlson is only the latest link in a chain of assessors "handpicked by the incumbent for 64 years. There hasn't been a free choice since 1914," he maintains, saying he's best because he is someone "in private (tax) practice outside the government."

George Locke, who retired from FMC a few years ago, says the assessor's "image" needs to be improved, adding that a new face from outside is what's needed.

Carlson isn't responding to these attacks, continuing to stress his experience in the assessor's office.

At a recent debate, the five candidates were asked their opinion of Proposition 13, the Jarvis-Gann tax limitation initiative on the June 6 ballot. Goulding, Konnyu and Locke say they favor the measure. Bonfield said he opposes it.

Carlson wouldn't say, although earlier in the campaign he had indicated he opposes Proposition 13. Carlson's reason for declining to answer was that he will be in the assessor's office and required to work out assessments whether 13 or the Proposition 8 — Behr bill package passes. (He can keep his post of assistant county assessor, an appointive job. if he doesn't win the assessor's seat).

EACH candidate has ideas on how to improve the assessor's office.

Carlson: Put assessment maps in county libraries.

Goulding: Streamline the office and change the appeals process.

Konnyu: Has been encouraging assessment appeals.

Bonfield: Cut out paperwork, revise appeals process and use current zoning as basis for assessments instead of "highest and best use (regardless of zoning)" as is now the case.

Locke: Keep media informed of proposed changes and bring assessment procedures up to date.

MEHRKENS PRECINCT CHAIRMEN

Dick Bowers, John Leavitt and Ted Moller are coordinating precinct walks in the Campbell area for Ralph Mehrkens, candidate for county supervisor in the 4th district.

Bowers, who originally filed as a candidate, later dropped out of the race and announced his support for Mehrkens.

The Mehrkens Campaign Committee is organizing a walk-a-thon for June 3rd to stump for their candidate.

Artery hits grand slam

Moose Lodge captures 1st half championship

WILLOW GLEN Optimist officially eliminated Fontanetti's from the first half pennant race in the Campbell Major division of the Campbell Little League last week. Brien Bertolin's pitching and hitting saw to that.

Bertolin pitched Willow Glen past Fontanetti's, striking out 10, and belted a home run to push the losers two games behind league leading Moose Lodge with just one game left to play.

Moose Lodge made the game academic two days later by nudging Doetsch Building 4-3.

Campbell LL on the radio

CAMPBELL Little Legue games can be heard each Tuesday through Friday at 4:30 p.m. over DRVE radio (95.3 FM).

Weekend games will be broadcast on a tape delay on the four weekday afternoons. The broadcasts, produced by GAP Sports Productions, will run all season long.

Dave Niemeyer collected two hits for Willow Glen in its win over Fontanettis. Dave Brown was three for three and Dave Meyer was two for three for Fontanetti's.

Rich Stanifer went the distance on the mound and Brent Hahn smashed his fifth home run of the season to spark Moose Lodge's win over Doetsch.

Both Hahn and Steve Cena rapped two hits for the winners.

In other first half action, Breuners pounded Campbell Plaza 15-3 behind the hitting of Mark Phillips and Daryl Jones.

Phillips lashed five hits and Jones cracked three, including ahome run, to lead the rout. Danny Profit and Mark Shanks both contributed two hits to the Breuners attack.

JONES WENT the distance for the victory.

Kevin Schaffer collected three hits, including the game winner, to lift D's Automotive past Robins 5-4.

Schaffer who notched the win, singled in the bottom of the sixth to drive home Jim Divittorio with the winning run.

Ray Hixson hurled last place Robins to a 6-2 victory over D's.

John Altovilla ripped a pair of hits for the losers.

Willow Glen got off to a fast start in second half play by dealing first half champion Moose Lodge a pair of defeats.

WG opened the second half with a thrilling 4-3 win over Moose, thanks largely to Tony Hemphill's fifth home run of the season.

Larry Miranda tossed the win and both Dave Niemeyer and Jim Zacheo collected two hits for WG.

Jerry Pennington homered and Hahn lashed two hits for Moose Lodge.

Willow Glen came back the very next day to hand Moose a 2-1 setback on the strength of Hemphill's fourth inning home run. It was his sixth HR of the season, tops in the Campbell Little League.

Niemeyer tossed a four-hitter for the victory, yielding two of those hits to Pennington.

FONTANETTI'S, meanwhile, opened its second half by topping Doetsch Building 3-1 on a five-hitter by George Tsamis. Tsamis struck out 10 and helped himself at the plate with a pair of hits.

Mike Medefesser was three for four at the plate for the winners.

Dan Egger fired a two-hitter and struck out 15 to lift Robins to a 5-0 win over Breuners.

Egger was also four for four at the plate while teammate Darron Okamoto was two for three.

Jones lined a pair of hits for Breuners.

D's Automotive and Campbell Plaza split a pair of decisions, D's taking the first 5-3 and Plaza taking the second 4-3.

Robert Artery's grand slam with one out in the bottom of the sixth inning carried D's to its win over Campbell Plaza.

Pony League race jammed at the top

By CHUCK HILDERBRAND

The Campbell Moreland Pony League pennant race is starting to resemble the Bayshore Freeway at rush hour.

Four teams were jammed within one game of each other at the top of the standings and three other clubs were within three games of the top as of Sunday.

The Fontanetti's Yankees, who split a crucial two game series with the American Realty Cardinals over the weekend, clung to a one-half game edge over the Cardinals and the Fiorillo's Pizza Giants. The Yankees were 8-3, the Cardinals 7-3-1 and the Giants 6-2-1.

The Campbell Optimist Mets had a chance to move into a tie with the Yankees but were thwarted by a pitcher with exactly one inning of mound experience in the league for a team that hadn't won a game in nine tries.

American Realty tightened the race Sunday with a come-from-behind 8-6 nod over the Yankees, who prevailed 3-1 the day before.

A 13-hit attack, paced by Harold Sutherland and Al Vanegas with three hits each, and Bob Pogue, Steve Takaki and Tom Gricius with two apiece, enabled the Cardinals to outscore the Yanks, Rich Alvarez swatted three safeties for the losers.

ALVAREZ, WHO has a no-hitter and a 17-strikeout performance to his credit this season, fanned 15 and surrendered just three hits Saturday in a 3-1 Yankee triumph.

His teammates solved Gricius for only three hits, none of which figured in the scoring, but three key Card miscues handed the winners three unearned tallies.

The Giants, meanwhile, got a three-hit gem from John Heidemann in an 8-0 romp over the Jacky Boy's Pizza Cubs after succumbing 9-1 to the same club Saturday.

Heidemann whiffed nine and allowed only one runner as far as third in stifling the explosive Cub bats.

Teammates Mike Reilly and Ted Ornduff contributed two hits each, but all eight Giant runs were unearned as the Cubs committed nine errors.

The Cubs' bat lethargy Sunday followed an 11-hit outburst that powered them past the Giants Saturday.

Mario Fontano went the distance on a five-hitter and whacked two doubles, good for three RBI's. Rich Hegerty as three for three at the plate with two doubles.

Campbell Optimist didn't figure to have much trouble against the 0-9 A's Sunday, especially after a 14-2 laugher the previous day in which the A's were charged with 11 errors.

But the Mets ran into a formidable roadblock in the form of Mike Walsh.

Walsh, playing only his third game after returning from Campbell high's frosh-soph team, displayed poise that belied his hill inexperience and halted the Mets on three hits.

His brother Jim, the catcher, slapped a two run single in his behalf and was credited with an excellent defensive effort by his father and manager, Bill Walsh. Earl Wiggins also chipped in with two RBI's for the A's, who snapped a four game Mets winning streak.

The Mets' Randy Nichijima stroked three hits and Tony Kephart socked a three run double in the Saturday victory.

In the other weekend series, the Tigers moved back into play-off contention by disposing of the Gagliardi Brothers Dodgers 4-2 and 4-1.

Straw Hat, now 5-5, needed a five-hitter from Bill Roberts to subdue the hard-luck Dodgers (1-8) on Saturday and Pat Maloney fired two-hit ball through six frames Sunday. Roberts rocketed an opposite-field homer over the right-field wall in the latter battle.

The Dodgers' Steve Clinton tossed a five-hitter in defeat Sunday and tripled and singled twice Saturday.

In weekday action, the Yankees rallied from a 5-0 deficit to overcome the Dodgers 6-5 in eight innings Monday; the Cardinals overpowered the Dodgers 7-4 Tuesday; the Mets stopped the Giants 2-0 Wednesday with Bob Straight permitting only one hit; the Yankees held off the A's 5-2 Thursday and the Magoo's Pizza Pirates punished the Tigers 11-0 Friday.

In a Colt League opener Sunday, the CM Royals nipped Los Gatos 3-2 on Vince Ginestra's bases loaded single in the ninth inning.

Joe Jones logged two scoreless innings in relief of Rick Farrell to gain credit for the win.

Kevin's edges Home in eight for minor title

WEST VALLEY

KEVIN'S 7-11 nipped Home Savings and Loan 10-9 in eight innings to claim the first round title in the West Valley Bobby Sox minor division with a 6-2 record.

The two clubs finished the first round with identical 5-2 records to force the play-off game.

Rose Murty Tires finished close behind with a 4-3 first round record and Gunther's Delicatessen and Penn Electric shared fourth with 3-3-1 marks.

Rosecrucian Press finished sixth at 3-4 and Abeck Travel Service and P & L Electric tied for seventh at 2-5.

The Instep Orioles pace the major division with a 9-1 record and Lincoln Ave. Chevron is close behind at 8-2. Leigh Ave. Chevron sits in third at 7-3.

In recent West Valley play, Lisa Ferrante went the distance to pitch Lincoln Ave. Chevron to an 11-4 win over the Orioles, the Orioles suffering their first loss of the year.

Jennifer Stevenson turned in an unassisted double play at third base to lead the Pioneer Club of Pacific Telephone to a 7-6 win over the YMI Devils in major action. Stevenson caught a line drive and tagged her bag for the twin kill.

The Tire Service Co. Rams ripped Jerry's Paper Salvage 17-10 and the Santa Clara Nut Co. whipped Rosendin Electric 8-5. The Shockers and Super Sockets battled to a 13-13 tie.

In minor division play, Gunther's dropped a 14-4 decision to Home Savings, Laura Dequine tossing the win for Home.

But in the loss Gunther's turned in a triple play. Pitcher Julie Gerhart grabbed a line drive for the first out, tossed to third sacker Cheryl Brown for the second and Brown fired to second sacker Leann Cali for the third out.

Nancy Ventimiglia ripped a home run and drove in three runs in the loss for Gunther's.

Kevin's 7-11 posted a close 8-5 win over Rose Murty Tires in eight innings. Stephanie DiVittorio tossed the win for Kevin's, fanning three in the eighth to clinch the victory.

CAMPBELL

The Braves and Royals each wrapped up the first half with titles in the Campbell Bobby Sox league.

The Braves nailed the first half title in the major division with a 7-2 record and the Royals wrapped up the first half crown in the minor division with a perfect 8-0 mark.

MORELAND

The White Sox boast a perfect 9-0 record in the Moreland Bobby Sox major division. Vicky Montgomery helped the Sox to their ninth win with a triple off the fence in a victory over the Dodgers.

The Angels are hot on the heels of the Sox with an 8-1 record, good for second place.

Michele Lee crashed a grand slam in a losing cause for the Cubs in the minor division and Charla Casteel belted a home run for the Tigers.

The Mets won the first half title in the minor division with an 8-0 record and the Pirates, Royals and Tigers finished in a tie for second with 5-3 records.

THE BLIND were leading the sighted recently in a two-hour sports car rally over county streets and highways. Above, Diane Johnson of Campbell, with the help of tape recorded street instructions and her seeing-eye dog, Cloee, navigates while Bernadette Rivera of Milpitas drives. The third annual Telephone Pioneers Blind Sports Car Rallye involved sighted drivers, members of the Brothers and Sisters Z Club, and blind navigators competing for prizes. First place went to Margie Saenz and driver Dee Jules, both of San Jose. The event was also co-sponsored by the Sunnyvale Elks in cooperation with the Santa Clara County Blind Center.

Mulligan grabs NorCal second

JERRY MULLIGAN flew to a second place finish in the pole vault to top the West Valley College showing in the Northern California Community College men's track and field championships on Friday at San Jose City College.

Mulligan crossed the bar at 16'6" to nail second place in the event behind Golden Gate Conference champion Kim Black of San Mateo. Black went 17' to nail the title.

Mulligan had a pair of good tries at 17', according to viking coach Bill Campbell, but dropped out and settled for second to protect an injured leg. Mulligan had suffered a muscle pull in his leg during a practice session the week of the NorCal trials.

Doug Avrit rambled to a fourth place finish in the 5,000 meters for West Valley at 14:49 and Todd Baker (Westmont) was sixth in the 1,500 meters at 3:51.2.

The three, along with Kurt Graves, all qualified for the state meet that will be held on Saturday, May 27, in Bakersfield. Graves finished fourth at the NorCal trials in the 10,000 meters to win a state berth. The 10,000 meters was not run in the NorCal finals.

Wayne Gray (Campbell) finished second in Northern California in the decathlon and will compete in the state decathlon championships on June 2 and 3. Dan Sheehan (Prospect) and Jim Barnett (Camden) also qualified for the state decathlon at NorCal.

Russo cops MVP honors in WVAL

CO-WEST VALLEY Athletic League baseball champions Leigh, Campbell and Del Mar accounted for 11 of the 15 players tabbed to the first team all-WVAL squad announced last week by the loop's coaches.

Both Leigh and Campbell, who met in a play-off to determine which team would advance to the Regional play-offs, landed four players on the first team while the Dons of Del Mar landed three.

John Russo, whose pitching keyed Keigh's pennant drive, was tabbed the league's Most Valuable Player and was joined on the first team by Longhorn teammates Phil Murray, Sherman Hickey and Steve Conte.

Pitcher Mike Sullivan, who was 3-3, infielder Dan Trinidad, who hit .327, outfielder Mark Ortiz, who hit .333, and designated hitter Joe Cucchiara, who hit a league leading .516, all earned first team berths for the Buccaneers.

First baseman Kevin Cesar, who hit .393, pitcher Jeff Blobaum, who was 6-3, and utilityman Tom Bell, who was 3-2 with a 1.00 earned run average and a .250 batting average, were Del Mar's first team picks.

Rounding out the first team were Mark Webb and Vic Madden of Branham, Jeff Hill of Camden and Scott Ruiz of Westmont. Ruiz finished the season with a sizzling .467 batting average.

Bucs drop Dons, lose to Leigh

By DAVE MENDONCA

OH, THOSE ONE run ballgames.

"They can sure age a coach," admitted Campbell head coach Gordon Huntze.

And if one run ballgames truly do age coaches, Huntze must be rapidly approaching 100.

His Campbell Buccaneers had a penchant for playing one run ballgames this year, 15 in all, including the final two of their 1978 season.

The Bucs, hoping to represent the West Valley Athletic League at the Region III play-offs, knocked off the Del Mar Dons 4-3 in the first of two special play-off games before falling to bitter rival Leigh 3-2 last Friday.

Campbell, Del Mar and Leigh had all finished the regular WVAL season as co-champions with identical 11-5 records. But the play-offs were needed in order to decide which team would represent the WVAL in the regionals. As it turned out, Leigh will be the league's lone representative.

"It sure has been an exciting season," said Huntze. "I'm very proud of what the kids accomplished."

THE BUCS, WHO lost all three games they played against the Longhorns in '78, saw their season come to an end in the bottom of the fourth inning last Friday afternoon at PAL when Leigh slugger Kevin Kevorkian belted a lead-off home run, snapping a 2-2 tie. Kevorkian's blast proved to be the game winner.

Campbell gave the Longhorns a scare, however, in the seventh inning when Jeff Melrose led off with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Brian Raust. After Ted Alcocer reached safely on an error, putting runners at first and second, Leigh called upon John Russo to put out the fire.

Russo, who was tabbed the league's Most Valuable Player last week, retired Dan Trinidad on a long fly ball to leftfield but walked Dave Erkman, loading the bases.

Mike Sullivan then lashed a one-one pitch to centerfield only to have the ball caught on the run by Leigh's Sherman Hickey.

"He's probably as good an outfielder as there is in the league," Huntze said in praise of the Longhorns' defensive ace.

Leigh had opened the game by scoring two runs off of starter Mark Ortiz before Joe Jones came on in relief to end the first inning. Jones proceeded to pitch the final five and a third innings, allowing just two hits and one run but absorbed the loss, his first in six WVAL decisions.

Campbell had tied the game in the third on a walk to Trinidad and a home run to left by Sullivan.

Campbell had earned the right to play Leigh earlier in the week by trimming the red hot Del Mar Dons 4-3 at Municipal Stadium. It was only Del Mar's second loss in its last 11 games.

Sullivan chalked up the win with superb relief help from Jones, who was credited with the save.

After Campbell had taken a 4-2 lead in the top of the seventh on a run scoring single by Ortiz, Del Mar threatened to pull the game out of the fire in the bottom of the frame.

Sean Venezia led off with a single and was replaced by pinch-runner Scott Levander. Craig Bates followed with a walk and Jones was summoned from the bullpen.

After fanning the first batter he faced, Jones induced Craig Richesin to hit into a force out at second. A wild pitch scored Levander and moved Richesin to second before Jones struck out the next batter to end the game.

"In my mind, the guy deserves the MVP award," said Del Mar head coach Gary Cunningham, in praise of Jones. "The guy's just nails."

Jeff Blobaum, who had won his last six games of the regular season after losing his first three, suffered the loss.

"We had numerous scoring opportunities but Campbell worked out of jam after jam. Campbell deserved to win," said Cunningham.

Wotherspoon collects trio of NorCal firsts

ANNE Wotherspoon must have been mighty tired after competing in the Northern California Community College women's track and field championships last Friday at San Jose City College. But not from competing — from climbing up to the top step of the victory stand!

Wotherspoon (Los Altos) made the climb three times last week to lead the West Valley College women's track team to the Northern California track championship.

West Valley rolled up 70 team points to win the NorCal title. Alameda was second in the team standings with 62 points with Yuba at 40, De Anza fourth at 38 and Chabot fifth at 30.

Wotherspoon won three events to lead the Vikings to the title. The distance star won the 3,000 meters at 9:48.4, the 1,500 meters at 4:44.9 and the 800 meters at 2:11.5.

Kathy Perkins (Leigh) joined Wotherspoon in the 1,500 and 3,000 events, running to thirds in each race. Perkins was clocked at 10:15.6 in the 3,000 and 4:49.6 in the 1,500.

DENISE Holloway (Blackford) joined Wotherspoon on the top step of the victory stand with a first place finish in the discus with a state best 145' toss. She also finished second in the shot put with a 43'10¼" heave.

Nancy O'Connell (Campbell) placed in a pair of events for WVC at NorCal, finishing third in the 100 meter hurdles at 15.63 and fifth in the 400 meter hurdles at 63.8.

O'Connell joined with Carlita Anderson (Campbell), Mary Gunning (Los Gatos) and Carine Elbracht (Campbell) for a sixth place finish in the mile relay at 4:05.9. The same team had started the season running a 4:41.

Rebecca McLein (Los Gatos) rounded out the list of Viking NorCal placers with a sixth place finish in the javelin at 115'2".

"It was a very impressive performance," said Viking coach Augie Argabright of his women's team. "They all ran their best times of the year.

Giants go on hitting tear in wins over Reds, Cubs

UPSETS were the rule and not the exception last Saturday in the Major division of the Moreland Little League.

The fourth place Giants, who went on a sudden hitting rampage last week, registered the biggest upset by clobbering the league leading Cubs 26-7.

Eric Yamasaki led the Giant attack with five hits, including his third home run of the season.

John Silva and Sean Suttles were both five for six for the Giants.

The last place Reds, meanwhile, upset the second place Senators 15-5. Rick Martin's first home run of the season highlighted the Reds' victory.

In other action last week, the Giants pounded the Reds 17-2, giving the winners a total of 43 runs in their two victories.

Greg Troupe hurled a shut-out to lead the Cubs past the Dodgers 6-0.

And the Dodgers trimmed the Senators 4-1 behind the pitching of Gin Vasquez.

West Valley nabs 3rd in softball tournament

THERE was only one place that Sue Kensill (Camden) should have spent last weekend — at home in bed taking care of a severe case of the flu.

But to keep her in bed with her West Valley College teammates down at the California Community College women's softball championships at Golden West College in Southern California would have been virtually impossible.

So despite that case of the flu, Kensill tossed two games for West Valley, giving up just four hits and two unearned runs in 14 innings, to lead the Vikings to a third place finish in the rugged state tournament.

Kensill was touched for just a first inning single on her way to tossing West Valley's win over Delta in the battle for third. Kim Bowles (Pioneer) led the Vikings at the plate with a three for four day and Pam Goldsborough (Willow Glen) was two for four.

THINGS didn't go quite as well for Kensill and the Vikes against Cerritos, who ultimately trimmed Los Angeles Valley College 1-0 for the state title. A pair of unearned runs in the second inning cost WVC the decision.

"Sue was just as effective as ever in spite of her illness," said Viking coach Les Hearn in praise of the righthander. "She pitched super."

Kensill allowed just three hits in the game, two of them bunt singles, and she allowed only two balls out of the infield.

But Valley could manage just three hits in her support, a double by Mary Talpas (Pioneer) and singles by Bowles and Terry Berg (Branham).

Valley scored its only run of the game when Berg singled, stole second and, after Bowles and Goldsborough each walked, scored when the Cerritos hurler delivered an illegal pitch.

Viking hitters fanned 15 times in the loss.

"We have the best team in the state," admitted Hearn after the tournament. "We just didn't prove it last weekend."

"This is the best group of athletes I've worked with in nine years of coaching" he added.

Bobcats gun for tournament title

WHEN IT'S TIME for the player introductions at the San Jose Memorial Day women's fast pitch softball tournament this weekend at Columbus Park, the Santa Clara Golden Bobcats will be paying close attention — but not to learn the names of the players on the opposing teams, rather, to learn the names of the players on their own team!

The Bobcats haven't spent much time together as a team this spring since so many of the club's players have been involved in post-season play on their high school and junior college teams.

But even though the Bobcats haven't been together, it's a good sign to see so many of the players on championship school teams. That means that the players who will become Bobcats are winners.

And those winners will get together for the first time this Saturday at 10 a.m. when they open play in the Memorial Day Classic in San Jose. The Bobcats will open against the Reno Royals.

Six members of the West Valley College women's softball team that finished third in the state last weekend head the Bobcat roster this spring.

SUE KENSILL (Camden), the Golden Gate Conference's most valuable player in 1978, heads the list. The righthander will be the number one pitcher on the Bobcat squad this season.

Shortstop Pam Goldsborough (Willow Glen), first sacker Kim Bowles (Pioneer), catcher Jeanne Wilde (Branham), third baseman Mary Talpas (Pioneer) and outfielder-infielder Trinae Vera (Wilcox) were also members of West Valley's strong team expected to play key roles for the Bobcats.

Bridget Stewart (Branham) will be a key figure for the Cats as a pitcher and outfielder and Brenda Van Amburg (Westmont) should be a standout Bobcat in center field.

Third sacker Cindy Meyer (Camden), pitcher-outfielder Joan Gallgher (Buchser), infielder Pam Reinoehl (Los Gatos), outfielder Karen Freedman (Los Gatos), catcher-first sacker Annette Blandford (Prospect) and pitcher-first sacker Tracy Ambler (Santa Teresa) are other key figures for the Bobcats this spring.

"Our objective is to win the metro tournament and then win the regional," admitted Bobcat coach Tony Sanchez. "That's really not unrealistic. There's not a team in Northern California that's overpowering this year."

Fran Angleson, a former member of the Los Gatos Wildcats and currently the women's softball coach at Santa Clara University, will be the Bobcat manager this season.

TIED FOR first place in the Community Project competition at Rogers Junior High School were, from left, Andy Byrne, Darin Walters, Paul Daetwiler, David Kretchun and Bill Baccus. The five, members of the school's Mentally Gifted Minors program constructed a seaside community as a novel math project directed by teacher Dave Hallstrom. Students were divided into teams and were issued 2 by 2 foot sheets of plywood and balsa wood to construct a dormitory to live in, a lake, reservoir and a water treatment-power plant. Their goal was to become completely self sufficient and each member earned money daily according to their behavior, achievement, cooperation and sensitivity, Hallstrom says.

ALSO A top winner in the Rogers Junior High School Community Project was the Futureton Community with planners, from left, Kevin Pisani, Steve Chambers and Chris Glick. Not pictured are Greg Antonicic, Donald Louv, and Brian Downs. The project gave student teams some basic materials to construct their town and a daily pay system which allowed them to convert their original dormitory into single family dwellings for each member. This math lesson-project also had students learn to budget their money (pay) for paying taxes, building roads, landscaping, insurance, etc. The best communities were judged on the basis of their esthetic value and how well it harmonizes with the total environment.

Groups join forces for 'magazine'

By HARRIET LEMAN

The first creative arts magazine in over 10 years at Campbell High School has been published as the result of the joint efforts of the Creative Writing class, the "Expressions Unlimited" cultural club and the Art III and IV classes.

The magazine, featuring a bright silk screen cover designed by the art department, is named after the club — "Expressions Unlimited."

Eight months in the making, the magazine features art, prose and poetry selected by student and teacher panels. All of the art was created expressly to illustrate particular pieces of creative writing rather than to fill an assignment covering a general subject.

Part of the preparation for the project was an interdisciplinary field trip to the Montalvo Center for the Arts in Saratoga (Villa Montalvo). The Creative Writing class and two art classes went together. The students first toured the galleries to gain a better understanding of contemporary art and a sense of the history and environment of the Villa. Then the writing students put their impressions into prose or poetry, while the art students made preliminary sketches.

The field trip is represented in two pages of the new magazine, with a large sketch of the Villa illustrating several Haiku poems and one long poem.

The writing class is taught by Darlene Jones, who originated the cultural club, and the art classes by Bob Capitolo. Both teachers served as advisors on the magazine.

Group meets to study old school

Newly appointed citizen members of the group include, Del Tucci, Marion Gordon and Homer Hyde. Mayor Dean Chamberlin and Vice Mayor Normal Paul are council representatives and other advisory commission members are; Ralph Pfirrman, civic improvement; Dwayne Reed, parks and recreation; David Forsythe, youth advisory and Don Hebard, planning commission.

When a reader asked directions to the new Santa Clara (still celebrating its "Grand Opening,") GOOD EARTH RESTAURANT, I told her it was just 7/10's of a mile up Alameda off Hywy. 17. This restaurant serves breakfast, lunch & dinner. This is a not a health food store – let me assure you this – altho, everything is cooked fresh from scratch & is good wholesome food that tastes "good," moderately priced. They bake their own pastries (I love their Carrot Cake), & they prepare many hot dishes in addition to salads & sandwiches & homemade soups – do try it.

If you remember old time greats such as Greta Garbo, Clark Gable, John Gilbert, etc. . . . you'll find many of these photos adorning the walls at CLEMENTINE'S. Above the bar are the original names of these old time stars & entertainers – if you can guess who they are – you're better than I, but it's a fun game to play while you're enjoying libations & listening to the entertainment of their 2 new groups "TOUCH" & "THE GREGORY JAMES QUARTET" . . . both excellent!

I keep receiving calls from ladies who appreciate the hospitality at the HWEI FU SHING for their entire family . . . they tell me it's a great place to take the kiddies. There's always an extra fortune cookie or reward for good behavior & they tell me it's a lot of fun to sit around a big table being served family style. Prices remain remarkably low, but the cuisine is delicious, so for a change of pace, try HWEI FU SHING.

Who feels like cooking these warm summer nights when it's still light at 7 p.m.? I know people who hop over to SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED in Belmont, Fremont or Saratoga. It's informal, yet nice, so you don't have to dress up. Best of all you can have a really filling, tasty dinner w/all the wine, beer or sangria (the last two are great on hot nights) for $4.79. Also incl. the biggest salad you can make from dozens of ingredients – tomatoes, lettuce, kidney & garbanzo beans, etc. A huge salad & a glass of cold beer are perfect for a sweltering night.
